

THE TAO OF WATERCOLOR

Painting Flowers Georgia O'Keefe Style

With Sharion Windom

This course is appropriate for students with some experience in watercolor painting. We will explore the flower paintings of Georgia O'Keefe, considered her signature work, who stressed the importance of taking time to really see a flower, to discover what the flower means to you and painting it larger than life so all could see the artist's vision. In this session, we will learn to use pure colors, intense and vibrant hues, careful blending and monochromatic schemes. Further, emphasis will be placed on letting ourselves be seen in our paintings by releasing preconceived ideas of reality and accessing an inner vision. The work of O'Keefe, original photographs and live flowers will serve as reference material and inspiration. Student material list available, and is without change for on-going students. Larger size paper is needed - 10x14 or larger. Please contact the instructor if you need guidance when purchasing supplies before class begins at shariwindom@yahoo.com.
